Let me add that all the feedback I received from the NSA students the next day was most favorable toward their evening with you. Thank you very much.

Dear Admiral Inman:

We wish to thank you once again for joining the NSA Executive Decision Analysis class for dinner and discussion on 21 September.

Your presence helped significantly to set the appropriate tone for the week. Your comments provided the participants with insight into the executive decision process as well as advice from your unique perspective. You reinforced issues which we addressed in our sessions throughout the week.

The course was enthusiastically received and a follow-up briefing on the approach to [redacted]'s problem was given to her on 1 October.

STAT

All who were involved in the course welcomed your keen interest in the program and appreciated your taking the time to support it.
